

ABSTRACT

A toothbrush and method of manufacture thereof is provided wherein the toothbrush has a neck, which is angled and longitudinally flexible with respect to the head and the handle. The flexible nature of the toothbrush is especially beneficial when used by wearers of various orthodontic devices such as braces

326258.1